Shooting day attended by rugby stars raises £35,000 for charity

Lochailort has helped raise more than £35,000 for its nominated charity, Sebastian's Action Trust, after holding a clay pigeon shooting match and auction, attended by some of Britain's sporting glitterati.

Rugby Player James Haskell and fellow teammates from the England and Wasps rugby teams attended in support of the event, held at the E.J Churchill Shooting Ground in High Wycombe on 5th September.

Each of the shooting teams were asked to contribute one item to the charity auction which, along with the ticket prices, raised a substantial figure of more than £35,000 for a charity that supports families with life-limited children.

Sebastian's Action Trust was formed to realise the dying wish of nine year old Sebastian Gates, who wanted to provide a place where life-limited children and their families can holiday together away from the rigours of hospital appointments, gruelling treatment schedules and prying eyes.

CEO of the Trust, Jane Gates comments "Lochailort are one of our greatest benefactors, as they have been helping Sebastian's Action Trust from its inception, after helping setup The Bluebells, a facility for life-limited children. We are thrilled that they have managed to raise such a large sum through this shooting match, as their continued support will allow us to go on providing care and assistance to the many families and children who use The Bluebells as well as our support services."

Managing Director of Lochailort Investments comments: "We are only too pleased to be able to help raise this money for Sebastian's Action Trust, which is a cause that is very close to my heart. I would like to thank James Haskell and his fellow teammates for their support during the shooting day, and for all those who donated to this very worthy charity, as I know this money will make a big difference."

Lochailort Company Profile

Lochailort Ltd, based in the heart of Mayfair in London, have a number of years of experience in land acquisition, property financing and development and are committed to building superior quality into everything they do.

Experts at sourcing land, Lochailort have established close bonds with surveyors, agents and private land sellers alike, to find new development opportunities which are truly unique. Specialists in obtaining planning permission, they ensure that schemes are well considered throughout the planning process, creating developments which sit harmoniously within the environment, while ensuring the highest possible return on investment.

By selecting just a small number of exclusive schemes each year, they can ensure that each and every project conveys the highest standards of excellence and are matchless in quality. These standards are omnipresent in their distinguished Sackville Place development in Sevenoaks, which clearly demonstrates their peerless attention to detail and outstanding levels of luxury.

As a specialist developer, they work closely with a full team of professional advisors and notable Architects, such as Robert Adam, who has been commissioned for a number of their developments. This close relationship is a testament to their merited schemes, excellent working practices and dedication to detail.

Synonymous with exclusivity, a Lochailort home has all the hallmarks of quality one would expect from such a company.
